Advising for Spring 2027 courses

From: Dr. Neil Harvey, Head of Department of Political Science, Public Law and Administration

nharvey@nmsu.edu

If you need advising about which courses to take in Spring 2027, please speak with any of the professors or your political science classes or contact me to set up a meeting time. We are always ready to help you in choosing courses as well as discussing post-graduation plans and opportunities.

Please refer to the requirements for the BA Political Science degree: https://catalogs.nmsu.edu/nmsu/arts-sciences/political-science-public-law-and-administration/political-science-bachelor-arts/

Remember the requirements are:

- POLS 1111 Intro Political Science Seminar (1 cr.) - only offered in Spring semester
- POLS 1110G Introduction to Political Science (3 cr.)
- POLS 1120G American National Government (3 cr.)
- One class from at least four of the six subfields
- POLS 300 Political Research Skills
- POLS 415 Senior Seminar (2 cr.)
- additional elective POLS credits to reach 33 credits for the major.

If you are seeking to earn academic credit for any internship work in Spring 2027, please plan ahead and leave enough time for setting up internships. We do not give academic credit for internships retroactively. See the information here. See if you are eligible to earn internship credit and what you need to do to register for POLS 410 Internship credits:

https://deptofgov.nmsu.edu/student-information/internships.html

If you are interested in pursuing our MA in Political Science or our Master of Public Administration (MPA), consider taking a graduate class under the Masters Accelerated Program (MAP) in the spring. You can count this class for your BA degree and for your Masters degree if your later apply and are admitted to one of our graduate programs. Speak with any of your political science professors for more details or contact me. In addition, see the information about the MAP here: https://accelerated.nmsu.edu/